Members of the Massachusetts State Association of Spiritualists last week observed the 76th anniversary of the advent of modern spiritualism at a Paul Rogers hall Mechanics building.

Paul Revere Hall, Mechanics Building, Boston, William G. Tyrrell, president of the association, presided and opened the morning session with an address of welcome. Few attended the morning and afternoon sessions but there was a larger turnout for the evening meeting, at which Dr. George B. Warne, president of the National Spiritualists Association, was the principal speaker. Others speakers at this session were the Rev. F. A. Wiggins, pastor of the Unity Church (Spiritualist) of Boston, and Mrs. Margaret J. Butler, president of the Ladies' Lyceum Union. All the speakers referred to the waning interest in spiritualism, and several ascribed this to persecution and said it was only with great difficulty they were able to meet and spread the doctrine.

MEN'S CLOTHING STORES

Going Up or Down?

Hart, Schaffner & Marx Clothes

When a man's appearance becomes careless, people know that he is slipping. When a man begins to dress neatly, everybody sees that he is winning success. When a man always dresses well, he is everywhere recognized as somebody. It never fails.

The hardest job any man ever gives himself is to try for success in old clothes. The efficient man makes no such mistake. Always well dressed, he easily wins respect, which is the first step upward. People boss the man who looks the part.

School Committee Meeting.

SUPERINTENDENT HAYES AND PRINCIPAL FULLER BE ELECTED FOR TWO YEARS.

A meeting of the joint school board of the Paris and South Paris Unions was held at South Paris last Tuesday.

Members of the Paris school committee are Albert D. Park, Miss Jeanne Hubbard and A. H. Hayes; of the Woodstock committee, Lester D. Bryant, Alden Chase and Albert N. Felt. All were present at the meeting.

Albert D. Park was chosen chairman of the joint board, and Lester D. Bryant secretary.

Alden B. Hayes, the present superintendent, who is now on his second year, was re-elected for a term of two years from July 1st, and has signed a contract for that period.

At the meeting of the Paris committee, most though not all of the teachers for the coming year were elected, and other business was done.

Principal Carlton E. Fuller of South Paris High School was re-elected for a two-year term. This was his choice, and he has signed a contract to remain for that period.

Ralph C. Masterman, who is in his fifth year as superintendent at South Paris High, does not desire a re-election, as he has something else in view.

Miss Berry, principal of South Paris Brick school, does not desire a re-election, and will close her services in June.

The seventh grade will be transferred from the Brick to the high school building, and the third grade from the Shurtz school, with Miss Hazel Miller teacher, will be transferred to the brick building.

At the request of West Paris people, a commercial course will be established at West Paris High School, to be maintained as long as there are sufficient pupils to warrant it. By making certain changes, this course can be carried on with the same number of teachers now employed in that school, so that the only additional expense will be a small amount of equipment.

One thing which will be insisted upon by the committee is that the rank of the students must be strictly maintained in the athletic games. In this respect the lines will be drawn tighter than they have been in the past.

The Republican State Convention. The annual thing about the Republican state convention held in Portland Thursday was that the delegates to the national convention were instructed to support President Coolidge for the purpose of securing his re-election.

The platform, like some other platforms of the year, can not be called a radical or even a highly colored document. Much work was spent in its preparation, and it is well worded. Two of its proposed planks met with opposition, and were eliminated by the committee on resolutions. One of these planks discontinued the aims and purposes of the organization formed for the purpose of placing the administration of our government "in the control of those of any particular class or religion by attempted domination of any political party."

The other plank which was eliminated was intended to approve amendment of the direct primary law so as to allow convention endorsement of candidates. More definite than in previous years is the water power plank, which is:

"We recognize that the established policy of this state is to retain the hydro-electric energy within the state for the use of our people and our industries. We believe it is the function of the state to promote the welfare of its citizens by encouraging them to utilize its resources, under restrictions to provide for the conservation thereof. We believe the state should, by all proper means, encourage the early and complete development of the water power of Maine by private capital, while at the same time protecting such interests as the state may have in the judicious acquisition of such development."

There was a full and free discussion of the several proposed planks at the convention, and the final action was taken by the delegates to the National Republican Convention at Cleveland are:

Edward Farrington Shot in Leg. While out in the woods with other boys on Saturday, Edward Farrington, 16 years of age, was accidentally shot from a revolver. He was sitting on the ground, and he was holding the trigger of the revolver. The bullet passed through the flesh of the thigh, and out, without touching the bone.

This happened on the ridge back of the house of George R. Morton. Some of the boys immediately rushed for help, and Guy Rowe, though smaller than the wounded boy, succeeded in carrying and dragging him nearly to the Paris Manufacturing Co's factory before they met the help that was summoned.

It is hoped that the wound will heal without serious or permanent consequences.

Waterford Buildings Burned. The first thunder storm of the season, March 20, took toll in Oxford County. It was the barn of J. O. Decker near South Waterford. Mr. Decker was in the building when the bolt struck and was knocked down. He had just turned his cattle into the barn yard, when the shower came up.

All the buildings, barn, shed and house, which were connected together, together with a flock of sheep and lambs, which were not time to get out of the barn, were destroyed by the fire. A considerable part of the fire-rooled the house.

The loss is estimated between $3000 and $5000, with a small insurance.

Norway Shoe Shop Companies. The annual meetings of the Sanborn and Norway shoe companies were held at the municipal court room Tuesday evening. The following officers were elected:

Pres.—S. B. Cummings. Vice-Pres.—J. N. Farrow. Sec.—H. E. Hastings. Treas.—C. E. Osgood. Directors.—H. E. Hastings, E. S. Cummings and H. F. Andrews.

An orchestra of eight pieces led by Howard Shaw with Miss Ruth Akers at the piano played at the Norway Monday evening. The first of the Norway Follies will be presented to-night (Monday) at the theatre.

Sargent Coleman of Center Lovell was in Norway one day recently.

The Norway Reading Club will meet this Monday evening with Mrs. Fred Lovejoy. The reading will be "Craving Around a Changing World."

Miss Lottie Winter was in Oakland last week.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union will meet Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Carrie Sweet.

Mrs. Barnard Sargent, who has been visiting Mrs. Albert Payne, has returned to her home in Norway.

Mrs. Elmer Lathrop, who has been visiting in town several days, has returned to her home in Norway.

Miss Pauline Small of Portland was a recent guest of Mrs. Emma Elizabeth Porter.

Mrs. W. Austin of Mechanic Falls was in the village Wednesday and Thursday.

Mrs. Austin, who has been a patient at the Norway Hospital for several weeks, returned with him.

Rev. O. H. Tracy, D. D., of Portland, who has been a guest of his son and wife, Rev. and Mrs. O. H. Tracy, returned to his home Monday.

On Sunday before his return he preached the memorial sermon in memory of the late Rev. R. E. Gilkey, who was his college mate, in Dixfield.

The Norway Order of Moose and the women of the Mooseheart Legion gave Mrs. R. Buswell a farewell social before going to his new duties.

Mr. R. Buswell was presented with a white gold watch by the ladies of the Moose.

The buildings of Henry J. Bangs of Gray Corner, formerly of Norway, were burned early Friday morning. The fire being discovered about 2 o'clock, it had evidently been smoldering for some time. The smoke was so dense on the second floor that it was impossible for the firemen to work there. A portion of the furniture was taken out from the first floor, but nothing above that. There was insurance of $7000, which will not cover the loss.

George Frederick Stone. George Frederick Stone died suddenly at his home in Norway on Thursday morning. He had not been in robust health for several years, but his final sickness was only a few days.

Mr. Stone was born in Leominster, Mass., on April 23, 1859, the son of George W. and Mary Stone.

When Mr. Stone was six years old the family moved to North Waterford, and he grew to manhood there.

Mr. Stone was a member of the Norway Congregational church, and he was a very active member.

For a number of years he was associated with J. W. Swan in the photographic business, and during the latter part of his life was an assistant of Miss Elizabeth Rice of North Waterford, who survives him; also a son, Philip F. Stone, postmaster of Norway, and one daughter, Mrs. Elmer D. Morrill of Norway.

He also leaves three brothers, Charles H. Stone of Albany, William Henry Stone of Norway, and Herbert D. Stone of Lovell; two sisters, Mrs. Emma Wilkins of South Berwick and Miss Anna Stone of Norway.

Mr. Stone was a member of the

The Way We Clean Windows.
In spite of the fact that we all consider window cleaning a bugbear, it is one of the most important jobs in the home. After completing the task, does not feel a sense of pride and enjoyment at seeing the windows sparkle.
The Institute has found chemicals about the best type of window cleaning cloth. Two pieces of chemicals are desirable, one for washing and the other for wiping. While the first coat may seem high, it should not be considered extravagant, because with care it will last a long, long while. Even if it does become hard, it softens when put into water. Strange to say, the piece of dry wiping glass with a piece of chemicals, when very lightly from warm water, and notice how quickly it picks up the excess moisture, leaving an unobstructed appearance.

For washing the windows, usually nothing more than clear warm water is necessary. If the windows are particularly dirty, especially in the kitchen where there is likely to be a film of grease, a few drops of ammonia will facilitate the cleaning. A small amount of kerosene in the water aids in cutting grease and leaves a brilliant luster, but it is not very agreeable to use. One of the finer friction cleaners or pastes, or whitening moistened with a little water, is very effective if the glass is especially soiled, but it is often found objectionable because it produces a white dust.
Deausted alcohol is the best for cleaning glass, because it evaporates so rapidly and leaves a brilliant sheen. It is especially good for mirrors, for it reduces the chance of excess moisture working behind the glass and spotting it.
It is also very good for hand mirrors—this is, if they have a silver back. It is not safe to use it, however, on any of the beautiful ivory imitations which are now in vogue, because it will likely leave a stain on the frame which only the manufacturer, if any one can, can remove. If you have a hand mirror of this type it is to use chemicals and clear warm water.
Alcohol, of course, is a rather expensive cleaning agent. Although it is most effective when used concentrated, it need not necessarily be used that way. You can add a small amount to warm water, just as you would use ammonia. Paper, especially of the tissue towel type, makes a very good material for cleaning windows. After a rain storm, then the dust from the screens has washed against the window, a paper towel with some moistened paper will make the cleaning easier and keep the cleaning cloths in better condition for the rest of the windows.
Cleaning the inside of windows at best is not a very pleasant job. It is not to be done with much enjoyment, but it is the real problem. Besides being hard work for the average woman, there is also a danger in it. A long time ago on a long handle for taking off the paint from the inside of the window, the paint was very good, but perhaps a person would be closer at hand and surely will be just as effective. Sometimes softening the paint with commercial paint remover is a decided help.—Good Housekeeping.

Remember to sweep the carpets the way of the nap. To brush the other way is to brush the dust in. Attend to it at once. If left they will sink in and be very difficult to remove.

SUN-PROOF PAINT

Sun-Proof is economical. The hardy coat wears and weathers and it gives perfect protection against the elements. Sun-Proof—a Pittsburgh Proof Product—covers an unusually large surface per gallon.
